

Blood Draw

I am going to have my blood drawn today. This helps my doctor know how to keep my body healthy.

My nurse or medical assistant will meet me in the lobby and bring me to a special room where they will draw my blood.

I will sit in the chair and prep my body by rolling up my sleeve

Next, the nurse will put a stretch blue band on my arm and it will feel like a tight squeeze.

The nurse will press on my arm to find the right place and then they will clean my arm with a cold wet wipe

I will keep my body still and calm. I will feel a poke during the blood draw.

Now they will put a band aid on my arm

I did a great job with my blood draw. I am all done now.
